DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609 A(1) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 6, element "26" is disclosed as being an opening or jaw and a scored line.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dittmer (5,937,485).

Dittmer discloses a device for fastening paper comprising a front, generally flat, cover (14) and a back, generally flat, cover (16) being formed from a single sheet of material (see col. 4, lines 28-34) and joined together by only a portion of the material adjacent one corner of the front and back covers (see figure 1 - the front and back covers are joined along hinge 18), and a clip (clamping member 20 encloses a conventional U-shaped binder clip 22) pivotably mounted to both of the front and back covers adjacent the corner (see col. 4, lines 19-26), the clip being pivotable from an operative position wherein the papers are held between the covers and an inoperative position wherein the papers may be released from the clip (see col. 6, lines 1-51).

Dittmer discloses the claimed invention except for the shape of the covers being generally rectangular and the shape of the clip being substantially triangular. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the document holder of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Furthermore, applicant has failed to disclose that the shape of the members of the document holder is critical to the invention.

Regarding claim 2, the front and back covers are scored (17, 19, 21) adjacent the corner.

Regarding claims 3 and 4, Dittmer disclose the paper fastening device being fabricated from a single sheet of flexible plastic material or other suitable material. This would, inherently, include a material which is transparent depending on the end result desired by the user.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Jeong discloses a corner paper or binder clip.
